

Learn how the Paycheck Protection Program may help your small business

Small business owners have unique challenges and roles to play during these unprecedented times. At Citibank, we recognize the importance of the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) to you, your employees and the communities in which we do business. Our goal is to help keep you informed every step of the way.

The Economic Aid Act, which includes additional funding for the PPP, authorizes additional funds for first-time PPP borrowers and allows eligible borrowers who already have a PPP loan to apply for a second PPP loan.

Supporting small business when it matters most

Citibank is hosting PPP educational webinars during April and May 2021.* There is no fee or obligation for attending. You do not need to be a client of Citibank to attend.

- ✓ There are 4 webinars focusing on First Draw PPP loans (as well as an introduction to PPP)
- ✓ There are 2 webinars scheduled to focus on PPP loan forgiveness

Webinar registration required

All small business owners are invited to attend, but must register for the webinar. After each webinar, all those who have registered will receive a link allowing them to replay the webcast. A live Q&A will help you get answers to your specific questions.

Webinar registration information can be found at:

*These webcasts are intended to provide a summary of applicable Small Business Administration (SBA) guidance on the Paycheck Protection Program. They are not intended to constitute legal, accounting or tax advice. Each borrower should consult their own advisors to ensure proper compliance with the Program's requirements. If you apply for a PPP loan, there is no guarantee that your application will be approved by the SBA prior to the available funds being fully allocated or that your application will qualify for a PPP loan.
